Message from Poster Chair

The COMSNETS 2015 Poster Session is a forum to showcase new and exciting ideas in the fields of networking and communications. The session is designed for the researchers and students to showcase their current and cutting edge work. This years session includes posters from computer networks, data measurement, communication theory, and software systems, and participation from within and outside India. We received 25 poster abstract submissions for this year's poster session of which 14 were accepted for posters. The posters were evaluated by a PC consisting of 14 members from institutes and research labs from within and outside India. Each poster abstract received at least two and in some cases three reviews. The process also had an intermediate round where first versions of posters received feedback from the review committee. We would like to thank all PC members for their timely, insightful and detailed reviews. Additionally, the poster session has two best poster awards, selected by a jury during the presentation session. We welcome you to COMSNETS 2015 posters session, and we hope that you will find the posters interesting and engaging.
