

PRESENTATION OF LOGISTIQUA'2019

Abderrahman EL MHAMEDI

The main objective of LOGISTIQUA, the international symposium on logistics and supply chain management which was first organized 12 years ago, is to promote scientific research and reinforce the bonds between professionals and academics through a constructive dialogue between both parties. Its scope is the Mediterranean Sea and beyond.

This 12th edition gathered together about 200 researchers and professionals from 16 countries.

LOGISTIQUA 2019 was an international event which sought to promote the most recent scientific findings through 9 plenary conferences led by famous professionals and academics. 24 workshops were also organized on a wide variety of topics –hospital logistics, urban logistics, transport logistics, traffic and road safety management, performance, logistic-related risks, logistic information systems, sustainable logistics, and so on.

Based on the expertise brought to you by a hundred members from the International committee representing a dozen countries, this 12th edition was aligned with the previous editions as far as the indexation of the IEE label. This symposium sought to broaden the interests of the academics as well as the professionals in the field of supply chain management, striving to connect with related areas, such as risk management, sustainable development, logistics cooperation, etc.

The members of the organization committee would like to express their gratitude to all the academic committee, researchers, teachers, authors, and administrative staff from the IUT of Montreuil that have worked together and joined efforts to make this edition so successful. We hope you enjoyed these moments as much as we did.
