The Young Professional (YP) members of the IEEE Solid-State Circuits Society (SSCS) enjoyed food, drink, and friendly conversation at a mentoring event organized by SSCS YP Chair Emre Ayranci at the 2018 European Solid-State Circuits Conference (ESSCIRC). The event kicked off with a welcome and presentation about the numerous benefits of SSCS membership by Ayranci. SSCS leaders and Administrative Committee members acted as mentors as they went around the room and described their journey to the field of IC. The mentors discussed how being an SSCS member has benefited them, helped them make valuable connections, and how their experiences with SSCS helped shape them. The mentors and YPs engaged in a Q&A session and then broke off into smaller groups and mingled.
